INTRODUCTION

An extraordinary opportunity to claim 276 acres of untamed alpine beauty in the private Moonlight Territories at Moonlight Basin — a rare holding in one of Big Sky, Montana’s most exclusive and conservation-minded enclaves. Tucked behind a gated entrance and bordered by over 2,500 acres of protected wilderness, Moonlight Basin Territory 2 offers sweeping 360-degree views of Lone Mountain, the Spanish Peaks, Fan Mountain, and Cedar Mountain. This is one of the last remaining parcels of its scale — where the majesty of the landscape meets the privilege of proximity. Here, the terrain unfolds in a stunning tapestry of old-growth evergreens, wildflower meadows, and soaring ridgelines — creating a natural sanctuary that offers both seclusion and inspiration. With multiple homesite options and access to private recreational trails reserved solely for Moonlight owners, Territory 2 is an invitation to design a multi-generational retreat that honors the land while offering every modern luxury. Just minutes away are the acclaimed slopes of Big Sky Resort and the forthcoming One&Only Moonlight Basin — a five-star alpine resort redefining luxury in the Northern Rockies. Ownership also grants eligibility for membership in the private Moonlight Club, including access to the Jack Nicklaus Signature Golf Course, Ulery’s Lake, world-class dining, wellness facilities, and ski-in/ski-out terrain spanning over 5,800 acres. As one of the largest privately held properties in Big Sky, Territory 2 is more than a land acquisition — it is a legacy in the making. This is a place to build not only a home, but a family haven, a living memory. A place where mornings begin with alpine light breaking over Lone Mountain, and generations gather beneath wide Montana skies. For those who seek enduring beauty, meaningful privacy, and the rare chance to craft something timeless, Territory 2 offers a singular opportunity to invest in land that lives on — in purpose, in story, and in spirit. INVESTING IN MONTANA RANCH LAND

Interest in Montana ranch land as an investment has been strong over the last several years. Throughout Montana, but particularly in Southwest Montana we have seen increased demand for ranches as a safe investment. Making the decision to pursue investing in ranch land can be incredibly rewarding (both personally and financially) but there are a lot of factors that go into investing and owning ranch land. "Ranch" is a general term that can describe a wide range of property from large income producing cattle ranches, smaller recreational properties, fly fishing properties, hunting ranches, or horse properties with just a few acres. All of these definitions of ranch property are in demand in Montana, and are appreciating in value over the long term. However, income producing ranch land is the most stable, and is in the highest demand by investors.

Before buying property in Montana it is important to understand Montana Water Rights. All water in Montana is owned by the State. A Montana Water Right allows you to legally use water in a prescribed manner, but not to own the water itself. Montana's water law is based in the Doctrine of Prior Appropriation - First in Time, First in Right. Water rights are ranked according to the date on which the water was first put to beneficial use. Priority dates dictate the volume and distribution of water from wells, rivers, and streams. Landowners must put the water to beneficial use without waste to retain their right to use Montana's water. Without diversion and beneficial use, there is no water right.

A conservation easement is a legal agreement between a landowner and a land trust that limits the uses of the land in order to protect its conservation values. The landowner retains title to the property. The creation of the conservation easement can qualify as a one-time donation that has tax benefits. The conservation easement runs with the title, meaning that if the property is purchased by a new owner, the conservation easement remains. Land ownership carries with it a bundle of rights—the right to occupy, lease, sell, develop, construct buildings, farm, restrict access or harvest timber, among others. A landowner can give up one or more of those rights for a purpose such as conservation while retaining ownership of the remainder of the rights. In ceding a right, the landowner “eases” it to another entity, such as a land trust. For example, a landowner may give up the right to build additional structures while retaining the right to grow crops.

Landowners looking to sell their property can use conservation easements to protect what future owners are able to do with the property. This typically reduces the marketable value of the property. If the conservation is setup properly, the landowners are able to take advantage of tax benefits associated with the creation and “donation” of the conservation easement. The potential tax benefits of a donated conservation easement are two-fold. First, income tax benefits may exist at the federal level. There may be benefits at the state level as well. However, state property taxes can not be reduced by a donation of a conservation easement in Montana. Second, the conservation easement works as an estate planning tool to reduce estate tax liability. To qualify for a tax deduction, the donation of a conservation easement must be considered a charitable gift by the IRS (Internal Revenue Service). It is strongly recommended that a qualified tax professional review the conservation easement donation to ensure it meets IRS requirements. A tax deductible, charitable donation can only be made to an IRS qualified tax-exempt organization. The donation of a conservation easement must be complete and irrevocable in perpetuity. In order to claim a tax deduction on the donation of a conservation easement the landowner must obtain a qualified appraisal by a state certified appraiser.
