INTRODUCTION

BEING SOLD COMPLETELY TURN KEY! Perched on a private hillside with sweeping, unobstructed views of the Madison Range, this exquisite custom home offers unmatched craftsmanship, energy efficiency, and Western charm. Built with SIP construction and solar panels that feed directly into the grid, this thoughtfully designed 5,244 sq ft residence brings monthly electric bills down to an average of $5 a month. The beautifully landscaped grounds feature mature trees, perennial flower beds, thoughtfully placed shrubs, and stunning rock gardens that blend effortlessly into the natural terrain, enhancing the property's serene and private setting. Inside, you'll find alder wood doors and trim throughout, a gourmet kitchen with cherry cabinetry, granite counters, two ovens, and a walk-in mudroom with laundry and pantry space. The main living area showcases vaulted ceilings, a floor-to-ceiling rock gas fireplace, and triple-pane Pella windows and doors with built-in blinds opening to a maintenance-free deck and hot tub. The primary suite offers panoramic views, private deck access, a walk-in closet, double vanity, walk-in shower with custom glass door, and a separate toilet room. Upstairs, the "Cowboy" guest room shares a Jack & Jill bath with a cozy media room featuring a showstopping barn door made from reclaimed mine wood. A second spacious guest room connects to the game room and shares a bath with dual vanities, while a third oversized guest suite includes its own private bath. Additional highlights include a gravel grate and wrought iron stair banister, radiant in-floor heat in both house and garage, three mini-splits for heating and cooling, two water heaters, two boilers, air exchange system, whole-house water softener, and a finished shop space off the two-car garage. Offered fully furnished and impeccably appointed, including all art, décor, kitchenware, linens, and towels. This residence presents a truly turnkey opportunity. Simply arrive with your suitcase and immediately enjoy refined Montana living at its finest. This one-of-a-kind Montana home combines comfort, luxury, and sustainability in a truly spectacular setting. Located just minutes from the charming town of Ennis, around an hour to Bozeman, and within easy reach of Yellowstone National Park, this property offers peaceful seclusion without sacrificing access to world-class recreation, dining, and amenities. # INVESTING IN MONTANA RANCH LAND

Interest in Montana ranch land as an investment has been strong over the last several years. Throughout Montana, but particularly in Southwest Montana we have seen increased demand for ranches as a safe investment. Making the decision to pursue investing in ranch land can be incredibly rewarding (both personally and financially) but there are a lot of factors that go into investing and owning ranch land. "Ranch" is a general term that can describe a wide range of property from large income producing cattle ranches, smaller recreational properties, fly fishing properties, hunting ranches, or horse properties with just a few acres. All of these definitions of ranch property are in demand in Montana, and are appreciating in value over the long term. However, income producing ranch land is the most stable, and is in the highest demand by investors.

Before buying property in Montana it is important to understand Montana Water Rights. All water in Montana is owned by the State. A Montana Water Right allows you to legally use water in a prescribed manner, but not to own the water itself. Montana's water law is based in the Doctrine of Prior Appropriation - First in Time, First in Right. Water rights are ranked according to the date on which the water was first put to beneficial use. Priority dates dictate the volume and distribution of water from wells, rivers, and streams. Landowners must put the water to beneficial use without waste to retain their right to use Montana's water. Without diversion and beneficial use, there is no water right.

A conservation easement is a legal agreement between a landowner and a land trust that limits the uses of the land in order to protect its conservation values. The landowner retains title to the property. The creation of the conservation easement can qualify as a one-time donation that has tax benefits. The conservation easement runs with the title, meaning that if the property is purchased by a new owner, the conservation easement remains. Land ownership carries with it a bundle of rights—the right to occupy, lease, sell, develop, construct buildings, farm, restrict access or harvest timber, among others. A landowner can give up one or more of those rights for a purpose such as conservation while retaining ownership of the remainder of the rights. In ceding a right, the landowner “eases” it to another entity, such as a land trust. For example, a landowner may give up the right to build additional structures while retaining the right to grow crops.

Landowners looking to sell their property can use conservation easements to protect what future owners are able to do with the property. This typically reduces the marketable value of the property. If the conservation is setup properly, the landowners are able to take advantage of tax benefits associated with the creation and “donation” of the conservation easement. The potential tax benefits of a donated conservation easement are two-fold. First, income tax benefits may exist at the federal level. There may be benefits at the state level as well. However, state property taxes can not be reduced by a donation of a conservation easement in Montana. Second, the conservation easement works as an estate planning tool to reduce estate tax liability. To qualify for a tax deduction, the donation of a conservation easement must be considered a charitable gift by the IRS (Internal Revenue Service). It is strongly recommended that a qualified tax professional review the conservation easement donation to ensure it meets IRS requirements. A tax deductible, charitable donation can only be made to an IRS qualified tax-exempt organization. The donation of a conservation easement must be complete and irrevocable in perpetuity. In order to claim a tax deduction on the donation of a conservation easement the landowner must obtain a qualified appraisal by a state certified appraiser.
