INTRODUCTION

Welcome to an extraordinary Montana retreat in the highly sought after Stone Ridge Views at South Meadow Creek, where homes rarely become available. Built in 2020 by renowned builder John Benedict, this exceptional custom residence offers approximately 3,000 sq ft on 11.75 pristine acres overlooking Ennis Lake, the Madison Valley, and the breathtaking Madison Mountain Range with unobstructed panoramic views. This stunning 3-bedroom, 2.5-bath home also features a private office and inviting sunroom perfectly positioned to capture Montana's spectacular scenery year-round. Rich Bora Oak hardwood plank floors, soaring wood ceilings in the great room, and a beautiful wood-burning fireplace create a warm atmosphere throughout the home. The chef's kitchen features quartz countertops, an oversized island, abundant cabinetry with pull-outs, hidden pantry, and a Thor 6-burner gas range with griddle. Just off the attached heated two-car garage, the mudroom and laundry area showcase stunning antique brick flooring and exceptional functionality. The luxurious primary suite offers French doors to the expansive maintenance-free deck with sweeping mountain and lake views. The spa-inspired ensuite includes dual vanities, jetted soaking tub, private toilet room, oversized walk-in shower with multiple heads, and spacious walk-in closet. Two large guest bedrooms are connected by a bright Jack-and-Jill bathroom, while the office features striking antique French doors. Designed for comfort and efficiency, the home includes radiant in-floor heat, two on-demand water heaters, water softener, buried 1,000-gallon propane tank, mini split in the primary suite, and Generac generator. Outdoor living is equally impressive with landscaped grounds, underground sprinklers, 25 planted trees on drip system, fenced garden area with greenhouse, built-in firepit, outdoor wood-burning fireplace, gas hookup for grilling, six-person built-in hot tub, and a professionally installed 1,000 sq ft five-hole putting green by Celebrity Greens of Scottsdale, Arizona. Additional amenities include a detached 26x26 heated garage/shop and expansive covered and uncovered maintenance-free decking. Located just minutes from Ennis and within an easy drive to Bozeman, Yellowstone National Park, and world-class recreation on the Madison River, this remarkable property offers the perfect blend of luxury, privacy, and Montana living. # INVESTING IN MONTANA RANCH LAND

Interest in Montana ranch land as an investment has been strong over the last several years. Throughout Montana, but particularly in Southwest Montana we have seen increased demand for ranches as a safe investment. Making the decision to pursue investing in ranch land can be incredibly rewarding (both personally and financially) but there are a lot of factors that go into investing and owning ranch land. "Ranch" is a general term that can describe a wide range of property from large income producing cattle ranches, smaller recreational properties, fly fishing properties, hunting ranches, or horse properties with just a few acres. All of these definitions of ranch property are in demand in Montana, and are appreciating in value over the long term. However, income producing ranch land is the most stable, and is in the highest demand by investors.

Before buying property in Montana it is important to understand Montana Water Rights. All water in Montana is owned by the State. A Montana Water Right allows you to legally use water in a prescribed manner, but not to own the water itself. Montana's water law is based in the Doctrine of Prior Appropriation - First in Time, First in Right. Water rights are ranked according to the date on which the water was first put to beneficial use. Priority dates dictate the volume and distribution of water from wells, rivers, and streams. Landowners must put the water to beneficial use without waste to retain their right to use Montana's water. Without diversion and beneficial use, there is no water right.

A conservation easement is a legal agreement between a landowner and a land trust that limits the uses of the land in order to protect its conservation values. The landowner retains title to the property. The creation of the conservation easement can qualify as a one-time donation that has tax benefits. The conservation easement runs with the title, meaning that if the property is purchased by a new owner, the conservation easement remains. Land ownership carries with it a bundle of rights—the right to occupy, lease, sell, develop, construct buildings, farm, restrict access or harvest timber, among others. A landowner can give up one or more of those rights for a purpose such as conservation while retaining ownership of the remainder of the rights. In ceding a right, the landowner “eases” it to another entity, such as a land trust. For example, a landowner may give up the right to build additional structures while retaining the right to grow crops.

Landowners looking to sell their property can use conservation easements to protect what future owners are able to do with the property. This typically reduces the marketable value of the property. If the conservation is setup properly, the landowners are able to take advantage of tax benefits associated with the creation and “donation” of the conservation easement. The potential tax benefits of a donated conservation easement are two-fold. First, income tax benefits may exist at the federal level. There may be benefits at the state level as well. However, state property taxes can not be reduced by a donation of a conservation easement in Montana. Second, the conservation easement works as an estate planning tool to reduce estate tax liability. To qualify for a tax deduction, the donation of a conservation easement must be considered a charitable gift by the IRS(Internal Revenue Service). It is strongly recommended that a qualified tax professional review the conservation easement donation to ensure it meets IRS requirements. A tax deductible, charitable donation can only be made to an IRS qualified tax-exempt organization. The donation of a conservation easement must be complete and irrevocable in perpetuity. In order to claim a tax deduction on the donation of a conservation easement the landowner must obtain a qualified appraisal by a state certified appraiser.
